Recording Policy for General Meetings

The APANB-AAPNB encourages respectful and engaged viewing of the posters and presentations at our general meetings. We seek to balance dual goals of presentations made to the public and to our membership: the sharing of useful, timely research to other researchers, and the opportunity to develop new work toward eventual publication or other dissemination. We therefore strive to provide a venue to present research in which researchers retain maximum control over the contents of their presentations.

Therefore, recording and photographing oral and poster presentations at APANB-AAPNB meetings is prohibited, except when express permission is given by the lead author of a presentation. This permission should include specific conditions for the recording, including what portions of a presentation may be recorded or photographed and how the resulting photographs or recordings may be used or reproduced. The recording of meetings themselves is also prohibited without express permission of the Board and notification of all members present.

Note that this policy does not preclude the occasional photography of meetings, such as to be used on APANB-AAPNB social media, provided that care is taken not to reproduce details of a presentation. However, individuals should err on the side of respectful caution, inquire if attendees and presenters are comfortable with such photography, and to respect their wishes if reasonably possible.
